Something different

It's back to old fashioned comfort food for the winter months.

And what a stunning way to present a roast. It may be just what you need to entice your guests looking for a more memorable dining experience. In these tough economic conditions you need that something extra to make you stand out from the crowd.

Combine the wonderful experience of on the spot carving from your roast beef trolley with a beautiful plate and you'll be onto a winner. For hard wearing plates that offer a touch of class, you can't go past Bauscher and Narumi. They're on the website under 'Our Products' then 'Commercial Tableware'.

Don't forget flambé trolleys if you're serious about increasing your reputation for unique personal service. They're all on the website (www.gibpat.com). That seventies staple is making a comeback.
