Underbench Ice Makers

These unique underbench models come with a removable air filter for easy cleaning, and an antibacterial pouch. Water and drain hoses are standard, as is 1 ice scoop.

The two models pictured both produce crystal clear gourmet ice. These compact ice cubes are the most famous worldwide. Being round, they don't stick together, making scooping easy.

The medium sized gourmet cube (Model ACM 46) is ideal for mixed drinks and soft drinks, and the one you will see most often in bars and restaurants.

The small gourmet cube (Model ACS 86) is definitely the last word in making a drink instantly cold and appealing. A glass can be filled to the brim with these tiny cubes.

ACM 46 Underbench Ice Maker:

- 20kg per 24 hours
- Medium gourmet ice
- 9kg storage bin
- W386xD600xH643mm (plinth installation)
- 20mm feet
- Also available with legs (extra cost) - total height 770mm

ACS 86 Underbench Ice Maker (on legs):

- 40kg per 24 hours
- Small gourmet ice
- 19kg storage bin
- W530xD600xH795mm (plinth installation) H900mm (with legs)
- Also available with castors (extra cost) - total height 860mm

Scotsman is the largest manufacturer of ice makers in the world, with systems producing cubes, flake, scale, nugget, dice, contour and gourmet ice.

High Production Ice Makers

These high production models have a stainless steel cabinet and removable air filter for easy cleaning. Water and drain hoses are standard with the units. The separately purchased storage bins come with a drain hose and 1 ice scoop.

The two models (10Amp) produce half dice square cubes. These look great in cocktail glasses, and the hard cubes minimise foaming and keep carbonated drinks cool longer.
